GUEST SPEAKERS:

- Frederick County Health Department / Bats - Darlene Armacost

Darlene was on hand to talk to residents about an increase in rabid bats in the area. In 2015 there were 9 reported cases and in 2016 there were 17.

If you find a bat in your home you can call Animal Control and they will capture it. Bats are a protected species in Maryland. You cannot get rabies from simply seeing a bat. To be considered exposed to rabies, you must have had contact with the saliva of a rabid bat. Due to the small size of the puncture wound, contact from a bat can also occur unknowingly while you are sleeping. Therefore if a bat is found in an occupied bedroom or in any other sleeping quarters, contact is usually assumed and any treatment guidance will be based on this assumption.

It is important to note that only a small percentage of bats have rabies. However, rabies is a fatal disease and once a person develops symptoms, no treatment is available.
