GUEST SPEAKERS:

- Mr. Mark Soberman – Frederick Memorial Hospital, Cancer Center
Dr. Mark Soberman briefed the attendees about the recently completed cancer center at Rosehill Plaza. He applauded the Frederick Community who raised $19 million of the $22 million needed to fund the not-for-profit building. The other $3 million was donated by James Stockman, for whom the building is named. He discussed the design, which is a holistic, patient centered model, organized to avoid "patient ping pong": the patient remains in a comfortable room with his/ her family and specialists (physicians, nurse navigator, nutritionist, etc) come to that room to discuss all options and phases of treatment. He also pointed out that it is affiliated with the world renowned MD Anderson Cancer Center and that the physicians underwent "rigorous" training to become part of MD Anderson. He added that patients will now have access to MD Anderson experts and treatment protocols and that patients may come there for an initial diagnosis or take advantage of the "Second Opinion" program, in which a patient receives a review and may then decide to remain with the treatment plan or follow a new plan. He also noted that FMH had searched for a restaurant to add to the campus and had made an agreement with a Dunkin Donuts (now to be called "Double D--DD") to serve healthy alternatives, such as wraps, paninis, etc. DD will be built in the Rosehill parking lot in the near future.

OLD BUSINESS:

- Construction updates
 - When will a traffic light be installed at the corner of Opossumtown Pike and Christopher's Crossing? Larry Aronow stated that he has requested that information from the developer responsible for it and when known the timeframe will be published on the NAC3 Facebook site and gmail distribution list.
 - Larry Aronow mentioned that the Monocacy Blvd overpass will open in November 2017 and that he is in discussion with the city about the potential need to widen the lanes of Christopher's Crossing to accommodate more traffic.
 - Will an MTA bus stop be established at the commuter lot adjacent to the Monocacy Blvd overpass? Dave Giles offered to look into this and have the response published in Facebook and gmail.
 - An audience member encouraged others to attend Board of Education (BoE) meetings and promote new school construction in the area. Dave Giles seconded the idea, pointing out that NAC3 meetings are primarily concerned with City of Frederick issues and since schools are run by the County of Frederick, it would be more productive to bring up the subject at BoE meetings.
 - An audience member mentioned a problem home in their neighborhood where large parties were held many nights this summer. Sgt. Brown encouraged the audience to call every time there was a similar situation, which would build a history of problems. The NAC 3 police supervisor Sean Carr responded further by email: "The City of Frederick has an Excessive Use of Police Service policy. What that entails is that when Police are called to respond to a particular residence multiple times for 'qualifying calls,' the Officer has Dispatch make note of the event. The incident then gets forwarded to our False Alarm Reduction Coordinator, who monitors the excessive use policy. When a certain threshold is met, the actual property owner receives a letter warning them of the policy. If the events continue, then fines are issued to the property owner. This policy has been very effective in reducing these types of calls. Noise complaints and parties certainly qualify under the ordinance. One thing I will need to clarify is that the actual event (i.e. party, etc) must be ongoing and able for it be verified by the Officer before it gets marked as a qualifying event. The mere reporting of the event doesn't constitute a qualifying event." He also noted that it is very important that the exact, correct address be mentioned when someone calls in a problem so that the police can track the history of calls.

NEW BUSINESS:

- City of Frederick & Frederick Police Department use Nextdoor. Residents can sign up and receive information specific to their community. Nextdoor is also used by the community for things such as lost and found, services, items for sale. Nextdoor is available as an app and through the internet.
- Nextdoor App - Ann Kelly, a resident of Amber Meadows, talked about the NextDoor app. She explained that it is a citizen run application that can be used to exchange information with neighbors and for the City to provide information to residents of a neighborhood.
